

ROYAL ACADEMY OF ARTS

Art tutors and models from the Royal Academy of Arts in London recently visited ISCA for two days of intensive life drawing lessons. The day-long workshops involved different drawing exercises and experiments and students were encouraged to draw poses in various media. Students confirmed that the day was hard work but hugely exciting and they felt a great sense of achievement.

PAPER ART

Accessories Fashion Designer Liying Yang ran a workshop on Hyperbolic Paraboloid and Paper Forms to represent shapes relevant to the theme Inside Outside. Ms Yang said, 'The students were very responsive and came up with highly original ideas on how to manipulate the form.' Students will be able to use these techniques across different art and design subjects.

KNITTING PATTERNS

A masterclass given by Knitted Textile Specialist Rebecca Smith, offered an insight into what can be created using different materials. The focus was on ideas generation and representing what had been collected on the school trip to Swanage through knitting. The results reflected the colours and materials found on the beach and gave fashion students an important new skill to include in future projects.

YEARBOOK PRODUCTION

Staff and students have been hard at work compiling the ISCA Yearbook for 2017. Work was carefully selected across all art and design subjects and students consulted about which piece they would like photographed. The work from every student at ISCA is represented. The Yearbook is a professional record of the creative talents and efforts of our students.
