

PRIVATE VIEW

This year's End of Year Show was an exhibition of thought-provoking student work related to the theme Point of Transition. It was an opportunity for Year 1 students to reflect on their creative journey to date, seeking to use the practical skills they have acquired and a greater ability to think visually. The exhibition was the result of a joint effort from students who designed the invitation and carefully curated the work to document their 'coming of age', as they transition from consolidating their basic art and design skills to developing portfolios which reflect their creativity.

In the curated exhibition, every student presented at least one work from one of their many projects. This represents the final outcome of an exploratory, creative process that has taken them from their initial, abstract concept to a concrete artwork. Invited visitors to the private view were able to gain an insight into the creative journey of our exhibitors and enjoy the rich variety of work on show.

RECIPE FOR SUCCESS

We were delighted to welcome two ISCA alumni, Mukky Masunthasuan and Trish Phng who came to speak to students about their experience of higher education at University of the Arts London. The lively session covered how best to prepare for university and included lots of good advice and tips. Students had plenty of questions and enjoyed viewing the portfolios of work. Mukky and Trish emphasised how the style of study at ISCA is excellent preparation for higher education.

ACTIVITY DAY

As we approach the end of term, there was time for some organised fun activities. Some students took part in a tree-top obstacle course at Go Ape and negotiated a route that gave them a bird's eye view of the natural environment. Others decided to join the bowling trip and had a relaxed afternoon.
