WALL OF WORK

As ISCA moves to online classes, we wanted to recreate a sense of the lively and dynamic studio spaces. To inspire, to celebrate, to bring together - each week we will be showing the work that has been created. The students have impressed us with their commitment, drive and resilience in the face of extraordinary circumstances. They have embraced remote learning and this in turn has inspired the tutors as they too adapt their teaching.

Over the summer term, we will add more outcomes and sketchbook pages to the ISCA Wall of Work to provide a snapshot of what is being achieved. The art and design work has been made in different countries across the globe, but remains anchored to the philosophy and teaching within the ISCA community.

Well done everyone!
