

ISCA @ WORK AND PLAY

With the spring term well underway, we are representing the creative processes students explore and activities they enjoy through a gallery of ISCA @ Work and Play. These images will provide an exciting visual journal of how students develop concepts and hone skills through experimentation. We look forward to viewing these outcomes and development each month.

As always, this is a busy time of year especially for Year 2 students who, with the support of tutors, are putting the finishing touches to their portfolio pages ahead of their university interviews.

Students on campus have been enjoying an array of activities including regular pizza evenings where they can come together as a community. In other culinary news, a delicious time was had by all at the cooking club where banana and chocolate muffins were top of the menu. There is also plenty to keep them active with online yoga and aerobics sessions and a few games of tennis on the courts.

The heavy snowfall at the weekend was a surprise opportunity for students and boarding tutors to put their making and sculpting skills to the test by building the most impressive snowman!
